

Dracula the Bloody Truth - Audition – Theatre Arts Guild

In your own way read the text three separate times. Change characters for each read as follows:

First read - Middle aged woman, eager, a little dramatic and keen to make her point to others.

Second read - Menacing man, a slow speaker, superior, strong and domineering.

Third read - Younger person, shy, trying to find their way in life a little nervously.

My plan was, until the accident happened, to visit the hospital where I knew he would be. The top floor has a balcony where patients, who are feeling better, can sit out on warmer days and Cedric is a sun worshipper so he had to be there. I won't bore you with the details but let's just say that after my visit life would be completely different for both me and Cedric.

The trip across the city was uneventful, I try to avoid crowds if I can, they make me nervous. Anyway, when I was half way across Main Street I heard someone calling my name. I didn't know from what direction the shout had come from so I spun around trying to make sense of things and that's when it happened! When I woke up in the hospital bed I could not move my arms or legs because of the casts but worst of all, there, standing over me was..Cedric. He had an odd smile on his face, one I shall never forget. There was a message in that smile but I could not quite figure it out. "You've woken up." he said "I'm so glad you are alive." I was speechless, how could this have happened? I was supposed to surprise him on the balcony but now he has the upper hand and my plan has been cast aside.